DESIGNING SOLUTIONS BEYOND EXPECTATIONS
ISO 9001 : 2008

---

Lead times for programs are getting shorter and individual's workloads are increasing with every new project. This environment makes it crucial to partner up with a packaging company that is willing and able to understand your companies needs, and will recognize your unique requirements to keep your product flowing smoothly. We are in an era where simply providing a fabrication shop to produce what you specify will not give you the time to complete your other tasks. Advanced Design Solutions Inc. is committed to working with all levels of your organization to ensure your solution is not just functional but enjoyable for people to work with. ADS also has an extensive knowledge of automation machinery, and can design packaging with these requirements in mind.

ADS can develop conceptual demonstration fixtures, or complete prototypes.

Advanced Design Solutions Inc. is able to supply for any application.

Our standard paint process includes a phosphate wash and curing oven, which are integrated into a streamlined, high-volume system

ADS understands the disastrous implications of late deliveries and poor quality product. The challenge is to address these issues in a cost effective manner. ADS rises to this challenge by maintaining a flexible manufacturing environment in our 350,000 s/ft facility that allows an extensive amount of production to be completed in a remarkable amount of time while still maintaining an acceptable cost base. ADS's dedication to quality is demonstrated by their ISO 9001:2008 certification. We welcome the opportunity to show you what we can do, and believe your experience will give you the confidence to rely on ADS.

Please call us with any requirements for part packaging, steel fabrication or steel part production. We would be glad to discuss your application.
